Fun Facts

- The first carrots originated in Iran and Afghanistan around 5,000 years ago. They were actually purple or white in color, not orange!
- Baby carrots aren't what they seem! They are actually made from large carrots that have been cut, tumbled, and rubbed down until they look like small "baby" carrots.
- The longest carrot ever grown measured over 20 feet!
- Carrots are one of the best sources of vitamin A which is good for your bones, teeth, vision, and skin.

Local Connection

Michael and Jennifer Peterson grow organic fruits and vegetables on 20 acres at Willow Creek Farms. They harvest a lot of root vegetables during the cool months of fall and winter, including rutabagas, parsnips, turnips, and carrots!
