Fight discrimination

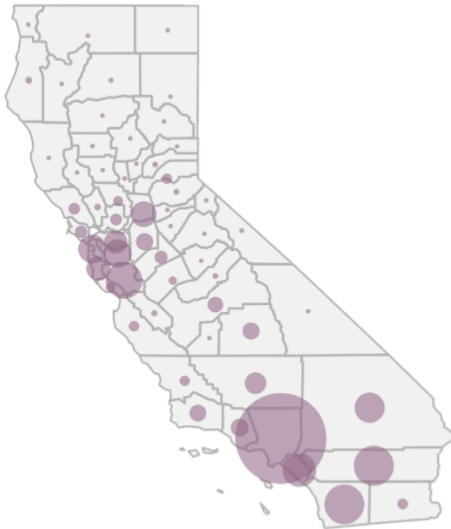

California's strength is in its diversity. Discrimination and hate have no place in our society, let alone in our response to COVID-19.

CDE Webinars this week:

- Parent Support Circle Webinar (Wednesday, April 29 at 4 p.m.) More details to come.
- Career Technical Education (CTE) Distance Learning (Thursday, April 30 at 11 a.m.)

CTE teachers are most often teaching in equipment-rich shop and lab environments, so the transition for those programs and students to remote learning presents a different set of challenges. This webinar will discuss tools for implementation, best practices to approaching CTE, and continuing to support students and teachers in a e-learning environment for the jobs of tomorrow.

- Part Five: “Supporting Students with Extensive Support Needs, Low Incidence Needs and Related Services” (April 30, 3 p.m. to 4 p.m.)

This webinar will feature speakers from throughout California who will discuss supporting students with extensive support needs and low incidence disabilities as well as providing related services and supports during the COVID-19 pandemic from the larger perspective to the classroom and individual student level. Presenters will include education specialists, speech and language pathologists, adaptive physical education specialists, occupational therapists and other service providers. Information discussed will include considerations, supports, services and resources to help teachers and families address the needs of students during the pandemic.
